

For more information, and to receive your free copy
visit guardianweekly.co.uk

Go to:

Guardian Unlimited Special reports

Home	UK	Business	Online	World dispatch	The wrap	Weblog	Talk	Search
The Guardian	World	News guide	Arts	Special reports	Columnists	Audio	Help	Quiz

Japanese politician murdered

Anti-corruption campaigner stabbed outside his home

Jonathan Watts in Tokyo
Saturday October 26, 2002
The Guardian

A Japanese politician who made his name by exposing corruption in high places was stabbed to death outside his home in Tokyo yesterday.

It could prove to be Japan's first political assassination for more than 40 years.

Koki Ishii, an outspoken member of the house of representatives for the opposition Democratic Party of Japan, was slashed in the head and chest with a 12-inch sashimi knife as he was about to get into his car.

The killer, who was described by witnesses as being in his 50s and wearing a red bandana, ran off after the attack, leaving no clue to his motive.

Japan has one of the world's lowest levels of crime and has not had a political assassination since 1960, when the Socialist party leader Inejiro Asanuma was stabbed to death by a rightwing youth at a political rally.

But many politicians say they have been threatened by rightwing extremists and gangsters connected with building companies, industry and senior members of the government party, the Liberal Democrats.

Ishii was one of the most vocal critics of the cosy and often illicit ties between these groups, prompting even the prime minister, Junichiro Koizumi, to speculate that the murder may have been politically motivated.

"There is absolutely no excuse for the use of violence to silence politicians," he said. "I feel anger rising up inside me."

Search this site

Go to...

Special report: Japan

Japan archived articles

Click here

In this section

Japan's asteroid mission heralds a new space race

Sars, the seal, and the sect's appeal

A nation's fate is sealed

Doomsday cult makes waves in Japan

Ishii headed an anti-corruption taskforce in the Democratic party called the G-Man Squad, after the gang-busting American FBI agents.

Death penalty sought for guru

The leader of the DPJ, Yukio Hatoyama, said he was shocked. "We must not let this happen again. He had been fighting a lone battle against corruption."

Top of the pops

Tokyo faces power blackout

In his three terms in office, Ishii - who held a doctorate in philosophy from Moscow University - made many enemies.

Launch of Japanese satellite fuels friction with North Korea

He played a role in uncovering the crimes of the Aum Supreme Truth Cult, which carried out the 1995 sarin gas attacks in the Tokyo underground railway.

Korea

North Korea warned by Japan

Japanese agreed net suicide pact

This summer he accused the defence agency of dirty dealings in its purchase of training aircraft from Fuji Heavy Industries in preference to what he said was a better offer by the Swiss company Pilatus.

The rise of pragmatism

Special report Japan

Lost in admiration for a society that has not forgotten its roots

Related articles

28.09.2001: Splits emerge in Tokyo over US military backing

Uniqlo retreats from British fashion market

World dispatch

06.09.2001: Jonathan Watts: Better the devil you know

Firm fined 15,000 for Japan's worst nuclear accident

Audio report

13.08.2001, Jonathan Watts: War shrine visit exposes Japan's raw nerve \(1min 47\)

Japanese power giant tells users to switch off

Useful links

Japan Information Network

Asiaweek

Asahi.com

Daily Yomuri

Far Eastern Economic Review

Fuji News Network

Japan Times

Kyodo News

---

Printable version | Send it to a friend | Read it later | See saved stories

